Hitachi Cable, Corning Unit to Form Fiber Optic Cable Venture

Tokyo, Dec. 12 (Bloomberg) -- Hitachi Cable Ltd. said it and Corning Inc.'s unit agreed to form a joint venture to make fiber optic cables in Japan.

Hitachi Cable and Corning Cable Systems LLC, Corning's fiber optic cable unit, will sign a contract in January and the venture aims to start operations in August 2002, Hitachi Cable said in a statement filed with the Tokyo Stock Exchange's wire.

Hitachi Cable's shares gained following the announcement. They rose as much as 14 yen, or 2.9 percent, to 505 and most recently changed hands at 501 yen, up 2 percent.

Corning, Hitachi Cable Plan Joint Venture in Japan (Update2) Page 1/2
Corning, Hitachi Cable Plan Joint Venture in Japan (Update2)

(Updates with closing shares.)

Hickory, North Carolina, Dec. 12 (Bloomberg) -- Corning Inc., the biggest maker of optical fiber for telecommunications networks, plans to form a joint cable-manufacturing company in Japan with Hitachi Cable Ltd.

Corning's Hickory, North Carolina-based cable unit and Tokyo-based Hitachi expect to sign a contract in January, with manufacturing beginning in August, Corning said in a statement distributed by Business Wire. Proposed terms weren't disclosed.

The companies would each own 50 percent of the venture. Having manufacturing operations in Japan will allow Corning to cut down on delivery times to customers there, it said. Corning in October reported a 21 percent drop in third-quarter sales and predicted fourth-quarter revenue would fall, partly because of weaker demand for optical fiber and cable.

Shares of Hitachi Cable, a Corning customer, rose 9 yen, or 1.8 percent, to 500 yen in Tokyo after climbing as much as 2.9 percent.

KCRC Hires Accountant to Investigate Construction Cost Overrun Page 1/2
KCRC Hires Accountant to Investigate Construction Cost Overrun

Hong Kong, Jan. 29 (Bloomberg) -- The Kowloon-Canton Railway Corp., a Hong Kong government-owned commuter rail operator, said it hired an accounting firm to investigate a cost overrun of HK$1.53 billion ($196 million) on construction of a rail link.

The company, known as KCRC, hired Peat Marwick, a unit of KPMG International, to look into the agreement approval process for 18 contractors and the monitoring of construction, company Chairman Michael Tien said at a press meeting. The West Rail project, which will link Kowloon and the northwestern suburb of Tuen Mun, was originally expected to cost HK$46.4 billion.

"I want this case to be handled fairly," said Tien, who was appointed as KCRC chairman last month. "Whether the former or existing management needs to take responsibility for this is too early to determine."

The investigation into the cost overrun comes as KCRC is competing with MTR Corp. to build and operate a planned rail link between Central and the northern suburb of Shatin, estimated to cost HK$30 billion, a government Web site said.
